WE'LL BUY THE SHIPS, DECLARATION OF M'ADOOPlan Pushed In Congress Regardless of Opposition of the Powers.

Secretary of the Treasury Tells House Committee That No Question of Neutrality Is Involved in Government Purchase of Vessels, and Early Report on the Measure Is Expected.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Sept. 1.—Discussion between London and Washington concerning the proposed American acquisition of German merchantmen is progressing and nearing an end with a definite prospect of England finally taking this stand:

England holds that under international law the transfer of ships from the German to the American flag does not, under the circumstances, relieve them from capture by British warships, as such transfer would be illegal, but that owing to the friendly feeling between the two countries and England's keen desire to have nothing interfere with that friendship, the British government would declare that the ships would not be considered subject to capture under certain conditions, the most important of which will be that they shall not be used in carrying food or other contraband or semi-contraband materials or supplies to points where they would or could be shipped to England's enemies. England also desires some sort of assurance that the ships purchased would not after the war be returned to their German owners.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The right of the United States to buy merchant ships of any nationality for neutral use cannot be disputed by any nation, declared Secretary McAdoo of the Treasury Department today, before the House Merchant Marine Committee, supporting the administration merchant marine bill.

Mr. McAdoo refused, however, to discuss the diplomatic phases of the situation, which are being handled by the State Department, but he declared that the bill would be received from Great Britain or France against the possible government purchase of German vessels.

Heardings on the bill were continued and it will be taken up tomorrow for immediate committee action. An early report to the House is expected. Secretary McAdoo recently indicated the Alexander bill which provides for the organization of a $10,000,000 corporation with power to buy, build and operate ships in the merchant marine, with the government as majority stockholder. He said that as some of the lines to be established would probably be operated at a loss, private capital would not be attracted, the government probably supplying the entire capital.

CONGRESSIONAL QUERRY. "Do you understand," Representative Saunders asked, "that there is no objection to the bill as it stands and France to taking over the German bottoms which have been driven out of the foreign trade by the war?"

M'ADOO'S REPLY. "Of course, I cannot discuss the diplomatic phases of the question," said Secretary McAdoo. "That is the business of the State Department. It cannot be successfully disputed, however, that this government has the right to buy ships from Germany, and any one else as long as it buys those ships for neutral use."

"It is stated that payment for the ships would be in the nature of supplying funds to a belligerent nation," observed Representative Saunders. "The ships are not owned by the government. They are owned by private citizens, and the money would be paid to those citizens," not the government," answered Mr. McAdoo.

"But it is said these lines are so closely connected with the government that payment would be practically to the government," Mr. Saunders asked. "I think there is nothing in that objection," said the Secretary. "There is no more punctilious citizen of the United States with respect to neutrality," he continued, "than the President, who would be the chief representative of the government in the company to be formed under this bill. We can rest assured of absolute neutrality."

The Secretary asserted that the government would be in exactly the same position as a private stockholder in the corporation, and that the question of sovereignty would never be raised in a proper court.

A letter from William A. Coates, president of the Philadelphia Board of Trade, was read protesting against the bill and recommending direct subsidy to build up the merchant marine.

Operations Have Now Reached the Stage Where

Armies of All Nations Are Confronting Each Other

in Line of Battle—Kaiser's Troops Must Continue Aggressive, Says Military Expert.

By an Associate Editor of the "Army and Navy Journal."

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 1.—The operations of the war in Europe have now developed to a stage where the armies of all the nations are confronting each other in line of battle. The general line of action is now developed on Germany's western border. With forces inferior in numbers to the French she has held her line from Metz to Muehlhausen, thus turning loose the bulk of her forces for the invasion in the north.

This hard-fought advance has been stubbornly contested. The Germans have had to pay dearly for their gains. As they progress they lose in strength while the allies, in falling back, have their losses more than made up by the reinforcements close at hand. The reappearance of the army of Gen. Pau in the vicinity of Peronne bodes ill for the German advance.

The Germans have now reached a point where they must go forward or back; they cannot stand still. The terrible losses of the ten days' fighting from Mons to St. Quentin make it probable that the troops on the fighting line are now outnumbered by the allies.

By a continuance of the aggressive they can overcome this disparity, the allies being hampered by an uncertainty as to where to expect the attacks and being necessarily handicapped by loss of cohesion during any change of position. The situation demands a great effort on the part of the Germans to continue their demonstrations against the allies' left wing while concentrating all available forces in an effort to break through north of Verdun.

GERMANS MUST GO ON.

The Germans cannot stop and hold what they have gained. The allies would then have the advantage of superiority of numbers and better lines of supply and soon would break down the German advance. The allies would arise against them in disease that is sure to devastate the districts over which the recent battles have taken place. The Germans have no choice but to push the fighting to their utmost. The strict censorship of the war news also indicates a guarding of information concerning important operations.

No news has come out concerning the landing force at Ostend since the first statement that Ostend had been

The Nuernberg Is Making

Australian Warships Await

Teuton Has to Leave When She Loads Her Coal.

[BY PACIFIC CABLE.]
HONOLULU (T. H.) Sept. 1.—The Australian warships Australia and Warrego were in communication with the British collier Strathgill, which arrived here today, up to the three-mile limit. The Australian warships are reported to be in close proximity.
The German cruiser Nuernberg, which put in here for coal, will leave the port early tomorrow morning stripped for action. Capt. Schoenberg said today that he was ready to meet any eventuality and that there would be no surrender on the part of the Nuernberg. He said that he expected his ship would be the coffin for himself and his crew.

The Nuernberg, which arrived here this morning, was permitted to coal hurriedly and make ready to depart promptly.
Capt. Schoenberg asked 1200 tons.
Admiral Charles B. T. Moore, commandant of the naval station, refused to say how much he allowed to be taken aboard, but he does not know how the cruiser said they were putting 150 tons in her bunkers.
Nothing has been seen of the German cruiser Leipzig, the only other German warship in the Pacific not bottled up in Kilauea Bay, since the Leipzig left San Francisco, August 15.
The German cruiser has been thirty-five days out from this port. Her commander says he has touched nowhere else in the meantime.

Inasmuch as the Nuernberg left this port thirty-five days ago, it is probably that she is in the Pacific. The war was declared between Germany and Great Britain, she is entitled now to take on as much coal and as much as will carry her to the nearest home port and may remain in Honolulu twenty-four hours.
Where that port now is becomes a point for the international lawyers to decide. The British have seized German Samoa, and the Japanese are blockading Germany's naval base in Kilauea Bay. Had there been coal-points in Germany's other Pacific ports, the Nuernberg would have gone there, but commander reports that he has touched nowhere since he left Honolulu.

If it should be held that German Samoa is still technically a German possession, because the German flag formally ceded to, even though occupied by Great Britain, then the neutrality regulations would allow the Nuernberg only sufficient coal to make Aloha, German Samoa. But if the war has effected changes which make European waters international, the Nuernberg would be free to take on as much coal as she wished.

Members Attending Encampment at Detroit Enjoy

Enrolled for Service in European War.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DETROIT (Mich.) Sept. 1.—With a salute of twenty-one guns from the revenue cutter Morrill this morning, a fleet of six excursion steamers, loaded with hundreds of Civil War veterans, headed out for a cruise in the Detroit River. The river trip was considered the principal event on today's programme of the forty-eighth national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic. A semi-official meeting was held in Lodge Guard Armory tonight at which Gov. Woodbridge N. Ferris welcomed the aged soldiers to Michigan.
One of the points of interest for the veterans in the army in Windward, Ont., across the river from here, where men are being enrolled for service in the European war. The Grand Army men are being shown every courtesy by the officers in charge of the army.
After Washington, Gardner, commander-in-chief of the G.A.R., had reached the armory today it was announced that the Grand Army Council, which held its executive session this afternoon, had upheld the commander's rulings concerning the parade and manner of conducting business meetings. The announcement said the council was unanimous in its decisions.
Commander Gardner had ruled that the women's associations affiliated with the G.A.R. were not eligible to march in the annual Grand Army parade tomorrow. He had also declared himself in favor of secret business sessions.

GARDNER EXPLAINS RULING.
"It was not because I am not in sympathy with these organizations but because I am in sympathy with them," said Mr. Gardner tonight, referring to his parade ruling. "I do not think it is the wish of the membership of the G.A.R. that we open the parade to associated organizations. That is why I made the ruling." The official registration books showed more than 11,000 veterans in Detroit tonight.

Local theaters, particularly moving picture shows, have offered appropriate programmes to attract the old soldiers. Hull House and Germania were thought again yesterday and today in parades and other historic incidents were reviewed in the same manner.
The Sons of Veterans and the Association of Former Prisoners of War held sessions.

had their first glimpse of Canada on

Most of the Californian veterans re-

The Department of California and

RESERVE BOARD JOB STILL OPEN.

SECRETARYSHIP OFFERED TO SEVERAL, BUT VACANCY IS UNFILLED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Although confronted by a vast amount of preliminary work, the Federal Reserve Board hopes to open the new banking system for business by October 1, according to an announcement today by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, ex-officio member of the board.

One of the board's many troubles is the choice of a secretary. The post was offered to Henry B. Fine, dean of the department of science, Princeton University, but he declined. H. Packer Willis of New York, who came to Washington yesterday to talk with members of the board, has been offered the post.
There were 275 national banks doing business in the United States at the close of business August 31, according to the report of the Federal Comptroller of the Currency. They had an authorized capital of $1,073,524,176, and circulation outstanding of $773,640,281, of which $126,241,780 was secured by other than United States bonds.

Efforts to limit the size of corporations were made during August for conversion or reorganization of State banks as national banks, and thirteen formal applications for organization of national banks by individuals not connected with State or national institutions.
Ten of the latter were approved.

told members of the Illinois Bankers' Association today that the new banking legislation will mean an end of panics in the United States. He said it would bring to business men an as-

He urged the bankers to approve

ANGELOS VISIT DETROIT'S VENICE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
DETROIT, Sept. 1.—A Great Lakes rain could not dampen the ardor of the Los Angeles delegation to the G.A.R. encampment and the greater number of the men and women boarded the Detroit River excursion steamers for the St. Clair flats, the Venice of America.
During the evening a number of the Los Angeles ladies, headed by Mrs.
Elizabeth Kaiser, took part in the Sons of Veterans ball at the Hotel Cadillac. Many of the Californians had their first glimpse of Canada on the ride up the Detroit River and past Belle Isle, Detroit's famous park.
Most of the Californian veterans returned early tonight in preparation for what many believe will be the last big parade of the G.A.R. hosts.
The Department of California and Nebraska, under the leadership of Commander B. B. Tuttle of San Francisco, will occupy tenth place in the parade. They will be more than fifty California veterans in the procession of a mile and a half, this number despite their advanced age, desiring to take advantage of the automobiles which the city of Detroit has provided for disabled heroes.
California has as yet made no choice for a commander-in-chief, although they are favorably inclined to-

United States Senator from New York, was made here tonight by a committee of his friends, including John M.

The Ambassador is now at his post,

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Discussion of a flood of delayed amendments delayed passage of the Clayton antitrust bill in the Senate today, but administration leaders declared tonight
it would be disposed of in a few hours tomorrow.

With the passage of the bill the administration trust programme will have been completed with the exception of the report of the conference committee on this measure. The decision to drop the railway securities bill was arrived at today and in consequence the Democratic caucus on programme, scheduled for tomorrow, was postponed.
SALE OF ASSETS.
An amendment to the Clayton bill offered by Senator Reed was accepted. It provides that when a corporation is adjudged a monopoly its assets shall be sold by the court to persons who will restore competition, the court retaining jurisdiction until satisfied that this has been accomplished.
Efforts to limit the size of corporations were defeated. One proposal would have barred from inter-State commerce concerns whose capital was so great as to "prevent substantial competition." Another fixed $100-000,000 as maximum capitalization.
Senator Fuldner's proposal that interlocking directorates in railway and mining corporations be prohibited also was defeated.

Closing of Vera Cruz Port a Revenue Measure.

BY GEORGE ADDISON HUGHES.

(BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 1.—Recognition of Mexico by the United States will be followed almost immediately

by simultaneous action on the part of England, Germany, France, Italy,

Russia, Austria, Spain, Japan, Chile,

Brazil, Belgium, Guatemala, Salvador,

Honduras, Cuba and Venezuela was indicated by a meeting of official representatives, ministers and charges

with acting Minister of Foreign Relations Favela tonight. Their respective nations will assist Mexico in every way cordial relations will do so.

The meeting was the first formal one between members of the diplomatic corps and Mexico's official representatives since the revolution.

The Carranza expects the speedy recognition of Vera Cruz was demonstrated today when he ordered abolition of the Mexican customs office at Coahuila. While this is done primarily to relieve the people of the interior of Mexico of two duties, the State

Constitutionalist treasury would not be so much in a position to receive abandonment of such a source of income as the port office if Carranza were not of the opinion the authorities are soon to return to the

Mexican government the Vera Cruz harbor.

Military authorities here today instructed that any person caught with arms after noon Wednesday would be shot.

CALDERON'S APPOINTMENT.

General and Acting Minister of Foreign Relations Favela were in attendance at Chapultepec until late last night discussing the course to be followed following the arrival of Persepolis Iglesias Calderon and Paul

Peller, the new Washington representative here. Favela declared he supported Calderon's appointment to the Ministry of Foreign Relations and was ready to be relieved of his duties

upon Calderon's arrival. Favela stated that Calderon, who has been photographed today the following message to Gen. Villa, duplicating the same text to Gen. Obregon:

"Please accept the sincere thanks of this government for the valuable services which you have rendered in conjunction with Gen. Obregon in restoring order in Sonora. Your patriotic labors in this matter are greatly appreciated."

Villa and Obregon will leave late tonight for a visit to Durango, where the Arrieta brothers, military leaders of the revolution, have started a revolt against the Carranza central government. The Mexican leaders returned from their trip through the United States to the Sonora border filled with outspoken appreciation for the welcome given them by the American people and avowed optimism for the restoration of peace in Northern Mexico.

It was reported officially here today that Col. E. V. Anaya has been appointed Governor of Lower California avoiding, it was believed, danger of counter-revolution in that territory. After the Durango conference Villa will return to Chihuahua City. It was announced today, not going to Mexico

City, as previously planned. Obregon, however, will proceed to the national capital.

VERA CRUZ, Sept. 1.—John R.

Silliman, of the American consular service, who recently has been in con-came here today from Mexico City.

He expresses himself as hopeful of the final success of the new Constitutionalist government in Mexico but he is doubtful of early peace throughout the republic. He declares that no fewer than 147 policemen were killed in the recent rioting in Mexico City

HISTORY-MAKER ENTERS BEYOND.

Henry H. Sinclair Passes at Pasadena Home.

Noted Figure in Development of the Southland.

World Authority on Hydroelectric Engineering.

Henry H. Sinclair, one of the world's great hydro-electric engineers and a heroic figure in the development of Southern California, died at his residence, No. 275 Waverly drive, Pasadena, yesterday, from a complication of diseases. He was 58 years of age.

The originality of his plans brought an amazing development in the power industry in this State, and it was his plans that were used in the development of the gigantic power source in Niagara Falls, and also on the River Rhone, which furnishes Paris its light and power.

Mr. Sinclair was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., December 22, 1855, and twenty-two years later graduated from Cornell University, prepared to enter his profession as a marine lawyer. His health failed and he came to California to recover his strength. He settled in Redlands in 1887, toward the end of a decade in which the electrical world was awakening to the fact that a dynamo could be driven more cheaply by water than by steam. Within sight of the ranch where he worked for several years and recovered his health, was an abundance of water that could be used for power. It was eight miles from a convenient plant site on Mill Creek to Redlands and the problem of such transmission had never been solved.

Setting himself to the task, Mr. Sinclair conceived an entirely original method of accomplishing it by the use of the multi-phase power transmission station. The great electric companies refused to take his suggestions seriously, but finally the General Electric Company constructed the plant as an experiment. It was an unqualified success. He had made history.

POWER TO CITY.
Near came the demand for power and light in Los Angeles. But instead of eight miles between the plant and city, it was eighty miles.

With only his own abilities to guide him, Engineer Sinclair began the work. The result was one of the most striking achievements in his life of success. The Edison Electric Company absorbed Mr. Sinclair's Redlands concern in 1897, he becoming vice-president and general manager. For the next decade the rise of the Edison company as a factor in the development of Southern California was no less with the rise of the Edison company as a factor in the development of Southern California.

In 1897, with all the principal Edison projects well advanced toward completion, Mr. Sinclair resigned his active connection with the company, planning to confine himself to hydro-electric consultation with offices in Los Angeles. But the Great Western Power Company decided that the Los Angeles engineers and the great man measuring to the task of carrying out its plans of hydro-electric development in the northern part of the State. In June, 1898, he was named as the harness as vice-president and general manager of that company. He carried the work to a successful issue, and resigned to rest in January, 1912. As soon as he was at liberty, J. S. Torrance, the founder of the remarkable industrial city here, they met and induced Mr. Sinclair to accept the general management of the Torrance company. His peculiar genius for construction made him at great expense in this work as in his other exploits.

FAMOUS SPORTSMAN.
As a yachtsman, he was only less well known than as an engineer. During one of his vacations, he purchased the yacht Lurline from John D. Spreckels and made a 14,000-mile cruise through the islands of the South Pacific. A meeting with Honolulu yachtsmen in the course of the cruise resulted in the first of the now world-famous biennial trans-Pacific yacht races from a California port to Hawaii, an event which Mr. Sinclair himself won twice with the Lurline.

Mr. Sinclair was a member of the California, Valley Hunt, and other prominent clubs of Pasadena and Los Angeles, the Zeta Psi fraternity, and several of the leading American technical organizations.

Besides Mrs. Sinclair he leaves his son, Arthur, and his daughter, Marie, all of whom reside at the family home.

Funeral services will be observed tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home. Interment will be in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

BISHOP ROBERT MINTYRE.

In Memoriam.
Farewell! God's noblest work is man.
Thou stoodst among the dearest best;

The hill-top's crest, to reach thy plan,
Thine aim achieved, thou art at rest.

Thy friends were legion, foes were none,
None knew thee but to sing thy praise;
Through toil and conflict thou hast won,
Thy star was bright, far shone its rays.

Self-made, through life's meandering way
Thine upward march no respite knew;
In lowly place thou couldst not stay:
Thy purpose right, to manhood true.

The workshop claimed thee, but in vain—
To higher realms didst quickly soar;
Through restraint, pen, thou soon didst gain
To fame's fair temple, open door.

Still nobler work thy heart desired,
A world to sin—dark Calvary—
A Savior slain—thy heart aspired
To lift the Cross that makes man free.

Thy work is done; thy voice is stilled;
Thy harp, too, soon thou didst lay down;
We will not grieve, thy Master willed—
Go wear by faith thy well-earned crown.

TECHNICALITIES FAIL.

Williamson Loses Fight for Freedom when His Demurrer to Indictment Is Overruled.

The first effort of Charles E. Williamson, former president of the National Tuna Fishing and Canning Company, to get his freedom by the route of technicality failed in the United States District Court yesterday when Judge Wellborn overruled the demurrer to the indictment entered in his behalf. The court intimated that the document contained a lot of surplusage, but that after all the false work was eliminated there was still sufficient to hold Williamson. The court also denied the motion of the defendant that the order forfeiting the bond of $2500 given by the Equitable Surety Company for his appearance be vacated in the absence of any showing on the part of Williamson that such action ought to be taken.

This bond was given after the execution by Mrs. L. D. Cannon, whose husband, an attorney, is a close friend of Williamson, of a trust deed to the surety company on her property, No. 2423 Malabar street, and the action of the court means that Mrs. Cannon is likely to lose her home.

Williamson then entered a plea of not guilty, and it is not believed that his trial can be had during the present term of court. An effort was made to reduce the original bond of $2500, but the judge intimated that he would fix it at $3000. It is hinted by friends of Williamson in Texas he would come to his rescue.

PEACE PLEA IN WAR'S HORRORS.

SANGWILL'S DRAMA PRESENTED BY HARRY MYERS.

Powerful Forecast of Present Turbulent Struggle Analyzed and Forcefully Presented to Large Audience Under Auspices of Baptists—Another Recital Each Day This Week.

Dramatically sketching the horrors and effects of the present war, Rabbi Isidore Myers Monday gave a lecture-recital of Sangwill's play, "The War God," at Bessie Hall, Temple Auditorium, under the auspices of the Young People's Society of the Temple Baptist Church.

Bessie Hall was packed to the doors and Dr. Myers' appeal for peace was greeted with interest. "The War God" is a wonderfully interesting problem play and although written three years ago is practically a forecast of the present situation. Dr. Myers is deeply interested in the cause of universal peace and yesterday his eloquence carried his hearers along with him.

He first sketched the four leading parts in the play, and showed which European leaders they were probably fashioned after. The Kingdom of Gothia, he said, was undoubtedly intended for Germany. The principal characters in the play are the King of Gothia, the Chancellor, the Anarchist and Frithiof, the Peace Maker, and the problem is concerned with how universal peace can be secured. The King wants occasional peace tribunals and believes the world will gradually come to a state of peace. The Chancellor wants to subdue the other nations one after another until Gothia is the ruler of all the world and then declare unilateral peace. The Anarchist wants to kill the statesman, while the Peace Maker wants to accomplish such a state of affairs by love. Rabbi Myers told his hearers that he believed the only solution of this gigantic problem is through a universal tribunal of justice, the world to be governed just as the State or the city is governed.

He bitterly denounced the rulers who have brought about the war, and said it was not a brave thing for them to rush the finest sons of the land into battle, where they must be mowed down and sleep in unknown graves, and he repeated from the play: "You float your warships on the tears of mothers and build our glory on a million graves."

In closing, he said that all should strive for universal peace, and said that the grave of War all people stand and plant the rose of universal love. These lecture-recitals will be held each day this week at 12:30 and are free to all.

COUNTY AND NATION SUE.

Right to Collect Toll on Mariposa-Yosemite Park Highway at Issue in Federal Court Action.

The Board of Supervisors of Mariposa county, and William T. Littlebrandt, superintendent of Yosemite National Park, are making parties defendant in an action filed in the United States District Court Monday. The complainant is Mary Helen McLean, who claims to be the sole owner in interest and grantor under conveyance of all the property of the Coulterville and Yosemite Turnpike Company.

The suit involves an adjudication of the respective rights of the county of Mariposa, and the United States, as to the fee in a certain public highway in Mariposa county, to regulate, control or interfere with the franchises of the complainant for the collection of tolls of the Coulterville and Yosemite Turnpike Company, a portion of which lies within the lands of the Yosemite National Park. The Coulterville and Yosemite Turnpike Company was granted a franchise in 1878, to run a twenty-mile toll road from Coulterville to Yosemite. At the expiration of the original term the franchise was extended, and is now in force, it is claimed. A dispute has arisen as to the right of the complainant to collect the toll on the part of the road that runs into the park. The complainant asks for damages in the sum of $10,000, and that the court decree that the defendants have no right or title in any portion of the said toll road.

GERMAN WAR BENEFIT.

"A Manoeuvre in Love" to Be Staged at the Mason by Teutonic Talent to Raise Money for Sufferers.

At the Mason Opera-house Sunday a benefit performance will be presented under the auspices of the German-Austrian-Hungarian Red Cross Society. The presentation will be "A Manoeuvre in Love," in three acts. The receipts will be used to aid the families of soldiers fighting in the European war.

The performance will be given in the German language under the direction of G. A. Barth. The cast is a splendid one and judging from the first few rehearsals the performance should prove itself worthy of reputation. The admission will be 50 cents and $1.

The advance sale of tickets will open tomorrow.

EXECUTORS' Fees Fixed by Law

Those who are about to appoint an executor of their Will should remember that the fees of the specially equipped and widely experienced Trust Department of the SECURITY are no greater than the fees charged by an individual.

In fact, the fees of an executor are fixed by law. In case you do not desire your attorney to draw your Will, we have our own attorney who will give you every assistance, and see that all legal requirements are complied with. When the SECURITY is named as executor or trustee, no charge is made for this service.

In addition, you save the premium your estate would have to pay on an individual executor's bond. The SECURITY has $400,000.00 on deposit with the State Treasurer to insure faithful execution of trusts.

Consider these items well. In many instances the amount thus saved will be sufficient to cover the executor fees.

Do We Come to Your Door?

Where a tremendous volume of business is being dealt with daily, the first and last thing to be thought of is—System.

Without System there would be chaos—and if that unfortunate condition is to be avoided, there is but one way of doing so, namely, by the strict observance of rigid rules. This is the only known way that allows of multifarious duties being performed in a manner entirely satisfactory to the principal parties concerned.

Our Delivery System, extending to every corner of the city and outlying district, is governed by rigid rules—all of which have been framed specially to help us in being of the best possible service to each individual customer.

Daily, at regular hours, delivery wagons leave our establishment on their various trips. All drivers and men have implicit instructions to be prompt, careful and courteous in all their dealings—and we would consider it a favor to be informed of contrary behavior.

If you live in the city, our wagon will be in your district today. It can easily carry your supplies for September—right to the door.

Mrs. Prov, Alleged Child-Poisoner,
Changes Her Lawyer and Denies Charge—Lomax Gets More Time,
as Does Rev. Mr. Haas—Bull, Realty Man, Tried in December.

Judge Craig began a clearance sale of damaged goods in Department 18 yesterday and during the morning hour about forty cases, some a bit shift-worn and frayed at the edges, were disposed of.

E. E. Lomax, the Spring-street jeweler, charged with the murder of A. B. Shaw, a jewelry workman, on July 15, asked until next Tuesday to plead, and his request was granted. Lomax still wears his jaunty air, and it is evident the surroundings at the County Jail agree with him.

Mrs. Nettie Prov, charged with attempting to administer poison to Mary, Albert and Duane Blanchard on July 9, changed her attorney in court and then offered the plea of not guilty. Her case was set for October 29, although her lawyers asked that she be given an early hearing. Thomas Ball announced that he had retired from the case and E. O. Holly and L. B. Barr were substituted as her legal advisers.

Adolf T. Oliva, who is alleged to have killed Pearl P. and Thomas P. Flynn out of $2500 in a real estate deal, in which spirits and various other astral bodies were concerned, was given until tomorrow morning to plead.

William Hart, charged with making an assault with a deadly weapon, pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for November 4.

R. B. Gilbert, similarly charged, pleaded not guilty, and he will shoot the legal chutes November 6.

John Handusky broke the record of the day by pleading guilty to burglary and he will be sentenced tomorrow.

Adolf T. Oliva, who faced a statutory allegation, insisted that it is not true and he will essay the task of trying to convince a jury November 5.

Barl L. Matheson pleaded not guilty to the charge of forgery and his hearing was set for November 16. His alleged partner in the scheme, Grace Kirchner, who defied the police to catch her, pleaded guilty last week.

Old States Holding Them to Be Exempt Is Declared Void—Red Man Is Arrested.

Judge Craig has ruled that under the laws of California an Indian can be held on the charge of vagrancy. He overruled an objection to the complaint against Manuel Ruega, a California Indian, that the state cannot hold an Indian on the basis of vagrancy under the State laws.

It is true that one section of the law placed the California Indians within the excepted classes, but the other sections made no mention of that matter, and the court was compelled to hold Manuel just like a white man.

Ruega was found at the Plaza one hot day in July, recently at peace with the world, with nothing to do. It is alleged that the fellow was found in the same vicinity for days at a time, and he was run in as a vagrant.

WORK OF SCOTCH MASTER.

First of a Series of Educational Exhibits Shown at Exposition Park Beginning Yesterday.

The first of a series of educational exhibits arranged for art students by the late William Mounsey of the Royal Scotch Academy and one of the best known of the Scotch masters. The exhibition will be continued for two weeks.

Thirteen large canvases are shown, representing the painter at his best period. The work is recommended to art students for its strength of handling and poetic charm. Mounsey was born at Kirkcubright in 1818 and died there in 1861. He was self-taught and seldom traveled out of his native city for subjects or inspiration.

Following this exhibition Robert Henri of New York will show his California studies.

COMING BACK TO THE FOLD

Many Progressives Turn
Capt. Fredericks.

Ford Now Leads Woolwine
Nearly Four Thousand

Complete Returns for Los Angeles County.

Many Progressives who voted Johnson at the primary election support Capt. Fredericks at the general election. The District Attorney has received more than a hundred letters from Progressives, congratulating him on his splendid vote and announcing their intention of voting him.

These Progressives declare that ideas for which Capt. Fredericks appeals to them. The greatest party, they further state, practically no place in the politics of California, and it is destroyed, national movement.

Prominent Democrats have congratulated Capt. Fredericks, stated their determination to support him for Governor. They say that they will not only vote for him, but they will get out and work for election, which is presaged by great majority over Johnson. Mrs. Helen K. Williams, who received such flattering vote for Lieutenant-Governor on the Republican ticket, has also written Capt. Fredericks a congratulatory letter, stating that she will continue her work among the California Women's public Clubs throughout the State in the interest of the Republican party. Her assistance in behalf of Capt. Fredericks' campaign is greatly appreciated by his managers.

FORD LEADS.
The incomplete count of the returns of the primary vote in Los Angeles County for District Attorney yesterday gave W. J. Ford a lead of 2499 votes over W. J. Ford with a lead of 2499 votes over his nearest opponent, T. L. Woolwine. At one time the report circulated that Woolwine led.

RAISE FOR MALEER.
Over the objection of Supervisor Norton, who has insisted that the matter into court today, the Board of Supervisors yesterday raised the salary of Thomas Maleer, County Registrar of Voters, from $150 to $180 a month, as provided in the county ordinance.

The introduction of the resolution authorizing the increase under ordinance No. 326, section 23, provided that after two years of service the Registrar of Voters shall receive a maximum salary, brought Mr. Norton to his feet with a protest. He said he would serve notice on the Supervisors that he would go to court if they raised Mr. Maleer's salary. He stated that he intended to notify the County Treasurer not to pay the increased demand and to apply for a writ of mandamus compelling the County Civil Service Commission to call an examination for the office of County Registrar.

Despite his protest, the election of the other members of the board adopted the resolution, holding that Mr. Maleer is entitled to the increase under the salary ordinance. Mr. Norton, on the other hand, contended that Mr. Maleer is merely a deputy County Clerk and that his election work, and is not entitled to the increase as Registrar of Voters.

TAKES LEAD HERE.
INSUFFICIENT TO WIN.

According to unofficial figures given out last night by Walter Borwick, candidate for Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, he received a lead of 28,241 votes in Los Angeles city and county in the primary election. Even over William M. Conley. Even with this large majority here, Mr. Borwick says that he does not believe it is sufficient to overcome the advantage secured by Mr. Conley in other portions of the State.

WHILE the greedy war god is claiming thousands of victims in the European struggle, Los Angeles women are striving to start a world movement for peace, appealing especially to the women of the different lands. A peace bureau, organized by the Women's Million Club, is making preparations for a monster peace demonstration. A preliminary report will be made at the meeting of the club today.

After an address by Rabbi Isidore Myers a general discussion of the horrors of war at the club's last meeting, Mrs. Clara Shortridge Foltz, president of the organization, appointed the following women as members of the peace bureau: Mrs. J. E. Cutler, chairman; Mrs. P. P. Morrison and Mrs. J. P. Durkin.

In her work Mrs. Cutler will have the advantage of an intimate knowledge of conditions abroad. As an organizer and conductor of world tours, she has traveled extensively, studied and secured. Her husband is the local secretary for the Ems-Hall Tours Company.

The peace bureau is recommending that citizens refrain from taking sides in war, but that they pity the war and that they are now suffering and must yet suffer. The bureau is also urging the club members and

COMING BACK TO THE FOLD.

Many Progressives Turn to Capt. Fredericks.

Ford Now Leads Woolwine by Nearly Four Thousand.

Complete Returns from Los Angeles County.

Many Progressives who voted for Johnson at the primary election will support Capt. Fredericks at the general election. The District Attorney has received more than a hundred letters from Progressives, congratulating him on his splendid vote and announcing their intention of voting for him.

These Progressives declare that the ideas for which Capt. Fredericks stands appeal to them. The Progressive party, they further state, has practically no place in the political life of California, and it is destroyed as a national movement.

Prominent Democrats have also congratulated Capt. Fredericks and stated their determination to support him for Governor. They say that they will not only vote for him, but that they will get out and work for his election, which is pressed by his great majority over Johnson.

Mrs. Helen K. Williams, who received such a flattering vote for Lieutenant-Governor on the Republican ticket, has also written Capt. Fredericks a congratulatory letter, stating that she will continue her work among the California Women's Republican Clubs throughout the State in the interest of the Republican party. Her assistance in behalf of Capt. Fredericks' campaign is greatly appreciated by his managers.

FORD LEADS.
The incomplete count of the returns of the primary vote in Los Angeles county for District Attorney yesterday gave W. J. Ford a lead of 3,499 votes over his nearest opponent, T. L. Woolwine. At one time the report was circulated that Woolwine led.

RAISE FOR M'ALEER.
Over the objection of Supervisor Norton, who threatens to take the matter into court today, the Board of Supervisors yesterday raised the salary of Thomas McAleer, County Registrar of voters, from $118 to $225 a month, as provided in the county salary ordinance.

The introduction of the resolution authorizing the increase under ordinance No. 324, section 23, providing that after two years of service the Registrar of Voters shall receive the maximum salary, brought Mr. Norton to his feet with a protest. He said he would serve notice on the Supervisors that he would go into court if they raised Mr. McAleer's salary, and later he stated that he intended to notify the County Treasurer not to pay the increased demand and to apply for a writ of mandate compelling the County Civil Service Commission to call an examination for the office of County Registrar.

Despite his protest and objections, the other members of the board adopted the resolution, holding that Mr. McAleer is entitled to the increase under the salary ordinance. Mr. Norton, on the other hand, contended that Mr. McAleer is merely a deputy County Clerk in charge of registration work, and is not entitled to the increase as Registrar of Voters.

TAKES LEAD HERE.

INSUFFICIENT TO WIN.
According to unofficial figures given out last night by Walter Borowick, candidate for Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, he received a lead of 12,241 votes in Los Angeles city and county in the recent primary election over William M. Conley. Even with this large majority here, Mr. Borowick says that he does not believe it is sufficient to overcome the lead secured by Mr. Conley in other portions of the State.

The figures he quotes follow: The city—Angeles, 12,678; Borowick, 25,116; Conley, 12,852. The county—Angeles, 12,111; Borowick, 22,649; Conley, 8,862. Total—Angeles, 20,789; Borowick, 50,935, and Conley, 22,114.

CHANCES BETTER HERE.

But Santa Ana's "Man About Town" Meets With Arrest When He Comes to Los Angeles.

Fred Forster, a youth who is known in Santa Ana as a "man about town," was arrested in a pool hall near Seventh street and Central avenue last night on a charge of having committed a burglary in that city before coming to Los Angeles to enjoy the opportunities of a larger sphere of night life.

According to a telegram sent by Sheriff Ruddock of Orange county, Forster left that city with a large amount of stolen clothing, in addition to about $200 worth of jewelry.

He is also accused of having beaten the marshal of Covina when the officer tried to arrest him on another charge several weeks ago. The police assert that he has other records in various outlying cities.

He will be taken to Santa Ana this morning.

PERRIS IRRIGATION SUIT.

Judge Welborn in the United States District Court yesterday heard arguments in support of and against a motion for an order restraining J. T. Hammer, T. F. Flaherty, Karl S. Carlson, J. A. Crane and John Shaver, members of the Board of Supervisors of Riverside county, from ordering the assessment or levy of any tax upon the property in the Perris Irrigation District for the payment of judgments secured against the district for payment of a certain bond issue, provided by act of the California Assembly more than twenty years ago. The hearing will be resumed this morning.

taken by the board is refusing to pay more for the present system than the engineer's appraisal calls for was explained and the chief engineer outlined roughly what will be needed to put the system in good condition. He also told them that they must lend their credit to secure the funds for immediate work but that the department will probably be able to pay all such indebtedness.

Through newspaper advertising columns and pamphlets the Union Hollywood Water Company yesterday made an elaborate presentation of its position. It accepts Mr. Mulholland's appraisal, so far as it goes, but alleges that the acquisition of that portion of the system by the city at the price named would be an injustice. Loss of business consequent upon dismemberment, cost of pumps, wells and other assets which the company has found it necessary to acquire and which will be a total loss when it quits serving water, it is alleged amount to several hundred thousand dollars.

The Public Service Board continues to receive many communications from residents of the Hollywood district urging that arrangements be speedily made to serve city water there. The city rate is 75 cents per month for a minimum of 1100 feet. The company's rate is $1.40 per month for a minimum of 800 feet.

SUB-CONTRACTS ARE AWARDED.

RAPID PROGRESS MADE IN CONSTRUCTION OF FIFTH AND SPRING SKYSCRAPER.

The rapid progress that is being made in the construction of the magnificent new home of the Citizens' National Bank at the northwest corner of Fifth and Spring streets was further signified yesterday by the formal awarding of important sub-contracts having to do with the interior finish and appointments of that building.

To R. S. Mason was given a contract for all interior painting. The Forre-Pettebone Company will install the electric light fixtures. All the finish hardware will be supplied by the Cass-Smurr-Damerell Company. The contract for the electric elevator signal system of the big structure was let to the Foulkes-Gaylord Electric Company. Parkinson & Bergstrom, the architects of the building, made the different awards.

Records have been broken in the erection of the frame of the new bank block, practically all of the twelve-story structural steel skeleton being now in place. Equally good time, it is expected, will be made in the facing of the building, the necessary shipments of brick, terra cotta and tile for this purpose having been guaranteed for delivery at the moment they may be needed. The interior finishing will be begun the day it is possible for the contractors in charge to start this part of the work. The Commercial Fireproof Building Company, which is building the new $1,000,000 banking and office block, is determined that the Citizens' National Bank building shall be one of the completed metropolitan improvements which the 1915 visitors to Los Angeles may admire.

SEAL IN ELECTRICITY.

Official Emblem of Los Angeles to Be Done in Lights at the Municipal Carnival.

The old Normal School grounds and building will be elaborately lighted Tuesday evening when the municipal carnival is to be given commemorating the 133rd anniversary of the founding of Los Angeles.

The Southern California Edison Company and the Los Angeles Electric Company will furnish the current and a large part of the equipment. There will be 2000 incandescent lights and Japanese lanterns on the grounds and almost as many more inside the building.

The most striking feature of the illumination will be a brilliantly lighted device representing the seal of the city. The seal will be six feet in diameter, showing in the center the four flags which have waved over Los Angeles during its 133 years, surrounded by two chains of light between which appears the name of the city and the date of its founding. The center of the seal will be steadily illuminated while the beaded circles and name appear and disappear at intervals.

The auditorium will be fully equipped with footlights, spotlights, and other devices for producing beautiful stage effects during the historical pageant.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF DEVELOPMENTS YESTERDAY.
 (At Home.) Enough exchange is said to have accumulated in New York to meet the obligations from abroad. The money market is said to be tightening somewhat and is affected by reports of the success of the German advance movement. The Pennsylvania Road will increase its rate of interchangeable mileage and it is said that other railroads will follow its example. There was a moderate decrease in Union Pacific earnings, and the New York Central shows a slight increase. All cereals dropped a little.

(Abroad.) The news of the extension of the British moratorium caused no discussion in British financial circles, nor did the statement of Lloyd George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, that specie payments would not be resumed for the present. The proposal of the American government to purchase German ships is receiving the attention of the shipping interests in London. (For details see the financial page.)

RESTRICTING COMMERCE

Great Britain, France and Germany advise the United States against purchasing German liners. Their objection may not be so much to the sale of "Made in Germany" for a business slogan as it is to seeing America acquire a merchant marine of any kind.

TIME TO PAY.

Los Angeles did $30,000,000 worth of business the past year. Doubtless some of it was on the installment plan and does not have to be paid for at once. It would be interesting to know how many millions of rentals this will total in the next ninety-nine years.

KILLING A BEAR.

Nothing seems to please the tired business man more. Indeed it is a wonder the bear crop never runs short. Sometimes we suspect it is only the bear-killing stories that are never exhausted. A favorite method is to hunt them in a cold climate so that the perspiration which freezes on one's brow can then be used for bullets in case one is out of ammunition.

ON THE WAY.

The press agent of Forbes-Robertson has assured our dramatic editor that the English star will not defer his American tour on account of the war. We trust he will be sufficiently up to the minute to bring us some of Shakespeare's vivid war productions. Henry the Fifth or Richard the Third would be exceedingly appropriate for English acting right now.

THE EARLY HOURS.

It is wonderful to see a city awaken, to see the first lights in cottages and bungalows, to hear the curious clatter and hollow clack of milk wagons, and the hum of the first street cars loaded with workmen, each with pipe in mouth. All cities differ in this respect, according to industrial constitution. Los Angeles is industrious, but most of its energy is released at 8 o'clock or after. Its earlier action is almost a negligible quantity.

MORE CONVINCING.

The right of a State to call out its militia to quell a riot is unquestioned; but perhaps the Colorado experience has taught the United States that the regular army is much more effective in such cases, since it inspires greater respect and arouses less prejudice. The situation at Butte is extremely aggravating and disgusting, as the city's peace and prosperity are threatened by the outrageous conduct of rival union-labor factions.

GOOD REASONS.

British warships do not hesitate to search American vessels for Germans and Austrians. They might trust this country to look out for its own end of a calm neutrality, but they can't be blamed for imagining that plenty of Germans in America would enjoy a visit home at this time. Los Angeles has 4000 able-bodied Germans who have reported to the local consulate and many of them would be glad to go to Europe at their own expense. It is a fact that some of them did get as far as New York, but were turned back.

POOR BUSINESS.

The managers of the war in Europe are not so smart as Villa, who carried so many war correspondents with him that he frightened the enemy to death and kept President Wilson and Secretary Bryan afraid to leave the shadow of the Capitol at Washington. Also he sold movie-pictures rights to all battles and was careful not to stage a real one, not using the film machines which he was selling. Villa will be getting royalties on his picture rights in America long after the smoke of battle has cleared in Mexico.

SOME DAY.

It may not be long until public libraries will loan so many other things that the book feature will constitute only a small department. They will offer the public every kind of sheet music and all sorts of photographs and records. They will loan pictures and perhaps paintings. At present some books are all color and others are nothing but music. The people should not have to be satisfied with books about something, but should have the thing itself. Words are good, but so are the objects that inspire words. By the way, there ought to be an immense phonograph record exchange conducted like a circulating library to give people an opportunity to get anything they like for many days or even weeks without having to buy the desired numbers outright.

OVERSEAS—THE SITUATION TO DATE.
 One is entitled to say of the censorship on news from Europe what some of the French and Belgian commanders are saying of the war of the nations: "The situation remains unchanged." The retreating disposition is still manifested by some of the troops. The French official statement last night admitted that the left wing had fallen back, but in the region of Bethel the republican troops "have arrested the Germans momentarily." On the center and the French right, however, "the situation remains unchanged," to quote the official statement.

The dispatches from London and Paris are about the same in tenor, more notable for what they conceal than for what they divulge. In this respect they are like the language of Tallentyre. If no victory is conceded, no important successes of the allies are boasted. The news budget shows that the allies are at grips with a desperate situation. But though yesterday in Germany was Sedan's Day and the Germans probably fought with more vim than before, they are not yet at their goal. Their air scouts are sailing over Paris and dropping bombs, but the main army is not yet in sight of Paris and the war is by no means over. On the other hand it shows a tendency to grow larger. The attitude of Turkey as a German ally became so menacing yesterday that England asked the United States to look after her diplomatic affairs at Constantinople in the event of hostilities.

A commission of Belgians en route to Washington to protest against what the Belgians alleged to be "atrocities of the Germans" reached London yesterday, simultaneously with the arrival here of a dispatch that Belgians had gouged out the eyes of German dead on the battlefield.

WAR FINANCE IN GERMANY.

The finance bills which Germany passed hastily through the Reichstag in the first days of the war were marvels of fearlessness and confident legislation. That she anticipated victory at a very early stage to justify them is very evident, for most of the loan arrangements call for three months settlements.

Germany has taken an immense chance. She is making an astounding drain upon her financial resources and her credit system, a drain which will be tolerable enough in victory, but appalling in defeat. She has obviously declined to recognize the possibility of defeat.

That she has been able to enact this audacious legislation within a few months of the time when the Chancellor frankly admitted that no further taxes upon the people were possible and that a levy upon the property of the rich was the only means left to obtain the necessary additional revenue speaks volumes for German complacency.

The first of the emergency bills—there are seventeen altogether—authorizes an extraordinary expenditure of $1,325,000,000, $75,000,000 of that to be raised on the empire's stock of gold and silver and the rest on loan.

In order to counteract an excess of bank notes the bank law in Germany calls for a tax on circulation of the amount by which the notes in circulation exceed the stock in cash. This tax was promptly suspended. In normal times the Imperial Bank covers the notes in circulation (which are not covered by cash) with discounted bills of a currency of three months and backed by three good names. These restrictions have been removed, one signature suffices and the bank may not only buy its own bills, but any Imperial acceptances that may fall due within three months.

All paper money issued by the Imperial Bank is now legal tender without distinction—the Imperial Bank is, in short, relieved of the obligation to pay in gold or silver.

The private note-issuing banks have also been relieved of the obligation to pay out gold for their notes. These provisions take effect from July 31. Amendments to the coinage law relieve banks from the obligation to give gold for silver, nickel for copper coins to the value of $10, as is normally the case.

The empire is enabled for an indefinite period to employ bills as an additional form of credit, free from taxation. In normal times bill and check transactions in Germany are subject to unusual restrictions not known in other countries, making settlements obligatory when they fall due, and action must be taken directly by the disbonored according to law. This law has also been amended.

In addition all industrial acts have been suspended. Eight-hour laws and the various industrial restrictions and regulations will be allowed to lapse. At the same time the state insurance against sickness has been adjusted to apply to war victims, wives to receive the minimum of $2.40 per month, with an additional $1.50 per month for every child under 15 years of age.

All customs duties have been removed from food of all kinds, and any restrictions on imported foods are suspended. Powers have been given to local authorities to fix prices for foods and natural products and to compel the sale of all stocks not actually required for personal use. The local authorities can either arrange the business or enter into trade themselves. A law has also been passed by which the government can intervene in any contract and close prices according to their own approval.

The loan arrangements are the most remarkable of their kind. Special loan institutions will be set up in connection with the Imperial Bank which will issue special paper to the extent of $375,000,000. This paper will be honored on the status of bank notes by the Imperial Bank, but the public is not obliged to accept it as in the case of the other issues. This loan paper will be issued in $1.25, $2.50, $5 and $10 denominations and loans can be effected on almost anything under the sun that is not perishable. In the case of trade stocks and industrial products value is one-half and two-thirds will be given. On German stocks and shares a shade less than market quotation will be allowed.

Simple negotiation will be all that is necessary to effect such loans. The stock will not be removed, but a government seal will be placed upon it, the same sort of seal the government now uses when it "seals" private goods when taxes are overdue.

The whole scheme is tremendous and daring. Something of the kind on a much smaller scale (the whole sum involved there was less than $25,000,000) was essayed in 1870; but nothing so remarkable or so gigantic as this has ever been attempted in national finance before. It shows that whatever comes Germany has the utmost confidence in herself and her ultimate victory. Defeat would spell the most colossal disaster in finance known to history.

TOO MUCH SECRECY.

In the giving out of war news an unnecessary amount of secrecy and suppression is being exercised by European official censors. An individual whose business has suffered a calamity or a reverse expects from his agents prompt and explicit information. The stockholders in a company making a commercial enterprise require to hear of the successes or failures in all branches of the undertaking.

The news of the constant slides in the Colaba out, at one time hampering the canal work on the isthmus, was not suppressed or withheld from the American public. Those who pay the bills must have the facts. So now when the nations of Europe are burdening themselves with staggering debt to maintain their armies in the field, they have a right to expect the whole truth, favorable or otherwise, as to the operations of their generals and soldiers.

No good purpose is served by suppressing news of defeats which will only appear the more calamitous when the actual facts are brought to light—as sooner or later they must be. No end is gained by minimizing reverses or magnifying victories. Truth will out. Moreover, nothing is so unnerving as suspense. It is easier to face bad news squarely than to be left in doubt as to what has really happened.

From the British public a protest is already being heard at the policy of secrecy being pursued by the War Office. Mothers with sons and wives with husbands on the firing line are suffering enough for their country without having the knowledge of suspense added to their other trials. A complete list of the casualties suffered by their armies ought to be published as quickly as possible by the governments of the countries that have called upon their citizens to make such heroic sacrifices. These lists of the dead, while they must carry indescribable anguish into many homes, will also bring relief from suspense into a great many more.

When the slaughter reaches to the fearful figures it is attaining in the present war the task of publishing anything like accurate lists requires superhuman effort. Yet the wives and mothers and the home people deserve the first consideration from their countries. No work is too hard that will allay the anxiety of the relatives and friends of the brave fellows at the front. Certainly as to the main general results of the campaign the nations should not be deceived or kept in ignorance.

This does not imply that the movements of armies, the tactics adopted, the exact position or strength of battalions should be prematurely divulged. Secrecy and surprise are two of the main resources of military strategy. But denying a defeat of which the enemy has already figured out the full consequences, or exaggerating a victory of which the retreating army can tell the exact effects, has no military value and is not playing fair with the people who are behind the army. If the operations of war make deceit and prevarication necessary for friends and foes alike, that is one more argument for abolishing the whole bloody business.

All is fair in love and war, says an old proverb. But the intrinsically unfair can never be made fair by the beauty of love or the ugliness of war. To deceive the enemy is undoubtedly part of the grim game. Is the deception of the home people another part? From Eastern Europe on the same day comes news of both Austrian and Russian victories, both complete and overwhelming. The only obvious conclusion is that somebody is lying heavily. How much longer will civilization and Christianity stand for the general immorality of war?

COST OF SALUTES.

Concerning the twenty-one-gun salute which President Wilson failed to obtain from the government of Mexico when Huerta was President, will it now be procured from the Carranza government? Probably not. The salute may now be refused on economical grounds. Whether of bread or gunpowder, "willful waste makes want." Twenty-one apologies cost but a trifle for the paper and ink expended in the writing of them, but to shoot off twenty-one guns—that's different.

A writer in the American Machinist is bitterly opposed to costly and useless navy salutes. He says: "Just suppose that every time the president of the great American wrench visited one of their shops a man was detailed to throw twenty-one monkey wrenches into a well provided for purpose; fifteen for the vice-president; fifteen for the general manager; thirteen for a director, and when one works manager visits another, eight perfectly good monkey wrenches were thrown into the scrap well. Every stockholder would be up in arms at the useless waste, and the price of monkey wrenches would be correspondingly higher in consequence. Could any officer proposing such a course escape the lunatic asylum? And yet this isn't a cent on a dollar to the cost of the senseless firing of salutes when an officer visits a vessel of the navy."

When Secretary Bryan visits a United States war vessel he is saluted by the firing of thirteen guns. These would the tympanum of his long and acute ears and disturb the arrangement of the Chautauque molecules of his brain. The cost to the United States, according to the calculations of the American Machinist, is equal to that of 1300 monkey wrenches. Would it not be better to dispense with the salute and give Mr. Bryan the money? It would add to the Chautauque lecture fund that he is laying by for a rainy day.

And the rainy day is coming. It will arrive on March 4, 1917. Then—suffering Moses—how it will pour!

A Long Good-by.

[Kansas City Journal:] "Come on, Bill," whispered the old burglar, in disgust. "It's no use waiting time here."

"Don't you think those lovers will get off the steps soon?" queried the new burglar.

"No. I just heard him say that was the last kiss. They'll be an hour yet."

Has Many Hits.

[London T. H. Bits:] Small boy (to charitable lady): Please, mother says she's much better of the complaint you give 'er 'quinine for, but she's awful ill of the disease wot's cured by port wine and chicken broth.

Very Diplomatic.
 [Stanford Chaparral:] May: Do you think it's disgraceful for a woman to expose herself in a new X-ray gown?
 Jay: Oh, it depends on how one looks at it.

A WOMAN'S WORLD.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

Europe is eating men. From all parts of the world men are pouring into Europe to be eaten. Every city, no matter how remote, has heard the call, and men, the young men, the virile men, are going forth to consumption.

Military experts contend that fifteen millions of men will be engaged in this war. Half of them may never return and the other half will show but a small percentage of able-bodied.

There were nearly three women to every man in both Germany and Great Britain before the war began. Superfluous womanhood had already become a tragic cry.

And now. No longer superfluous perhaps, since much of the work of the world must henceforth be hers, but it is possible, probable, that three-fourths of the population of Europe will be women three years hence.

"For men must work and women must weep." But no, that is for peace times. Men must fight and women must work now. There is no time for weeping. While men are demolishing whole countries, while the rivers of Europe are running with red blood and the soil is littered with the dead, of what use are tears? Tears are for the smaller sorrows, the lesser woes. Great heartaches are tearless.

Even here in far Los Angeles we have all had to say our "good-bys." Good-by, farewell, God be with you! How trumpery, how pitifully forlorn such parting words sound. We have allowed ourselves the cheap gratification of tears; but in Europe the women who cry, who can cry, is to be envied. But she is a leaver, a despondent, and it will be the duty of those other women, the women who have no tears, to care for her, to shield her, to pet her, while they set about taking up the men's work, bringing order out of chaos.

"And craves no tribute at thy hands but love, fair looks and true obedience." Ah, but so we women have been assured throughout the ages. But a far greater tribute is required of us than that. Love, yes, an all-enveloping, all-forgetting love. Fair looks, yes, if the acquisition of beauty proved not too tiresome to our lords. True obedience, yes, in wisdom or in folly. And after that, whatever thy hand findeth to do, do it with all thy might.

And the women of Europe will find plenty for their hands to do these troublous days; they will be called upon to show superhuman endurance, self-reliance, forcefulness, resourcefulness, wisdom and the sort of courage that would scorn to weep.

And the women of Europe, yes, and of the rest of the world, will not be found wanting.

And for many a long day it will be a woman's world. Every mother that has bred sons, every sister, every wife and every sweetheart who can lay claim to an able-bodied man will make her contribution to the war and proceed to do the work of the absentee.

No matter what our former ideas of woman's vocation in life, she will now perform whatever her hand findeth to do—and do it passing well. To weep is mere futility. They will smile if it breaks their hearts.

For ten years Europe has been saying good-by to her men. England has sent away as many as 300,000 a year because they could not find a place for their abilities, a market for their labors at home. These men went to the overseas dominions—to Canada, to South Africa, to Australia and to these United States, there to make good, often to make a home for the women left behind. Those were partings, too. Now they are returning in their battalions to almost certain death. What a number of angels! But the women are still there, and the women will still be waiting.

And what of the future? It has taken at least twenty years to rear this fifteen million army of men. Mothers cannot afford to reveal their great secret treasure. It is for men and still more men. For the next few years the world will be crying out for men. And only the women can provide them.

Women have dire need of their God in these days. Wherein exactly lies their duty? Did the mothers who provided this fifteen million army labor just for this? Many of the men must think in their hearts that it would have been better had they died in child-birth.

The maternity shirkers have been taunted, and the cry of race-suicide has been raised against them. What effect is this war likely to have upon this form of race-suicide? On their knees women will pray God to reveal His great inscrutable plans. Is it, then, their duty to breed sons?

And what sort of sons can they breed with the help of the old men, the invalids and the immature boys that are left? Where are the eugenists' theories now?

Perhaps after this the women will be numerous enough, strong enough to dictate the future of their nations. That this will mean the end of war, many believe. Perhaps it will. A war of such terrible magnitude was, we sincerely trust, never human race. But to me it seems much more probable that it will only mean that women will themselves become warriors. In Europe at the present time women are for this war, very far against it. Even here in Los Angeles the women of the various nations are all war fervor, keen only on the success of their respective nations, violent in their detestation of the enemy.

That strange thing called patriotism is very real to women. We would guard our country very much as we would fight for our young. Blood has few terrors for us, it is but a small minority of women that shudder at the sight of blood. To the modern feminist the war seems a natural enough woman. Suffering in what we deem to be a just cause has a tremendous fascination for us. To my mind the only unnatural type of woman is the sheltered parasite. The average woman can make cheerful sacrifices for her own, and that the female of the species is more deadly than the male seems to me one of the basic truths. But we must be fighting for our own, fighting for some definite goal. Then our endurance is beyond measure, our ferocity beyond itself. There have been so many instances in history where this has proved to be the case.

In this new woman's world that is bound to come our whole idea of women will undergo a great change. Why are our bodies soft and supple but that our hands and hearts should well agree with our external parts—that has been the old view, the poetic view, the masculine view. But our bodies have only been soft and supple from usage and mode of living, and our hands and hearts are only soft for a very small circle of our own blood.

Our Opportunities.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 1.—[To the Editor of The Times:] History repeats itself, but history has produced no such events as are now recorded in the European crisis. To think that all Christian nations and races are agreed with one another with the exception of the few who are almost unthinkable, and yet the realities stare us in the face, and to the shame of those nations, it must be said that they appeal to their own God for protection—the God of Love, mind you.

The European situation has been a series of horrors, and the "Brotherhood of Man," the "Blessed Hope of the East" sits at the golden horn, laughing at Christians and their Lord, while he sharpens his sword of fanaticism to balance an unbalanced account with the Russian bear. Thus the Christian nations and races are even with his enemies, and the "Blessed Hope of the East" will again prove the world's real mission.

America's industrial and manufacturing resources are admonished by the President of the United States to be calm and to be happy in the pursuit of the Christian mission. This country has every reason to be grateful for blessings showered upon it. With all the stock exchanges closed, and with $100,000,000 currency going to 8000 banks and through them to the people, the country can with safety look forward to normal conditions and a fulfillment of its mission among the nations of the earth.

Unfolded opportunities are now open to our people, and American ingenuity, enterprise and pluck will surely win out. Eventually prove as better than that we are closely allied to our brothers and cousins in Europe and therefore, in time of trouble, the support of their material interests, if not their "star" homes, comes and kingdoms fall, but the people will go on forever and ever.

MAX JACOBHUBER,
 Editor Dry Goods.

WROTE CHECK TO SHOW SHE COULD.

The Huey case, unique in some particular, is now on trial in Judge Judge's court before a jury. The complaint, alleging that on June 2, 1913, Mrs. Huey, who at the time was a member of the Women's Democratic League, and residing at 1121 that she secured on a check for $100,000, drawn in favor of Mrs. Huey, and signed by Mrs. Minnie G. Pelser, who it appears is a daughter of Mrs. Mary F. Grosse of Minneapolis.

The allegations of the prosecution to the effect that Mrs. Pelser was an accomplice in the fraud, and that she was a member of the Women's Democratic League. The story goes, related by the prosecuting witness, Mrs. Pelser, who is now in jail, that she wrote a number of checks, the alleged reason being that she wanted to know if Mrs. Pelser knew how to write a check. Mrs. Pelser testified that in obedience to the request of Mrs. Huey she did not put a number on the checks to show that she knew how.

Afterward they were all torn up, except one that was cashed at the United States Bank, the signature of Mrs. Pelser, payable to Mrs. Huey.

It was the joint credit of Mrs. Huey and her daughter, and thereupon the check was given by the latter to Mrs. Huey. She denied that she had given the check to Mrs. Huey.

The other side of the story is that Mrs. Huey was a loan from Mrs. Pelser to Mrs. Huey; it is admitted that a note was cashed by Mrs. Huey, who is now in jail, and that Mrs. Huey is guilty of grand larceny. It is claimed that the check was written by Mrs. Pelser, torn out of her book and given to Mrs. Huey, who is also alleged that Mrs. Huey was to repay the money, but that Mrs. Huey has refused to accept the money of the cash.

BENEFIT RACE MEET BOOSTED.

All Hands Work for Injured
Motor Speeders.

Auto Club Secures Sanction
Free of Charge.

Army of Autoists Rally for Good of Cause.

BY AL. G. WADDELL.

The Dingley-Swanston benefit idea is spreading.

Word comes from Tacoma that the Tacoma Speedway, where Dingley and his mechanic were injured July 4, is to be the scene of a benefit meet September 4, in connection with the annual Labor Day motor events. The northern benefit is to be staged under the auspices of the Tacoma Speedway Association.

The local benefit, which is scheduled for Ascot Park, September 26, promises to be the greatest benefit motor number ever staged in Southern California. L. V. Starr, of the Overland agency, treasurer of the local benefit committee, has had 10,000 tickets printed which are now on sale at all automobile agencies in Los Angeles, the sporting goods stores and several cafes.

THE SPIRIT SHOWN.

This afternoon the show cards are to be out and window space in hundreds of windows has already been promised by local merchants.

George Adair, the Knight tire man, who is chairman of the Prize Committee, has met with success in his labors. Many of the local sportsmen have done their share toward making the affair a success and George Clines told Adair to go into either of the Dyer-Cline stores and take anything he found for the Dyer-Cline prize.

The sanction for the Ascot Park meet September 26 has been granted by the A.A.A. free of charge. A telegram was received late yesterday afternoon by S. E. Mitchell, secretary of the Contest Committee and the Automobile Club of Southern California, from Richard Kennell, chairman of the contest board of the A.A.A., granting official sanction No. 742, gratis.

AUTO CLUB HELPS.

This sanction was granted free of charge as the result of Secretary Mitchell's telegraphed application, which stated the circumstances of the meet. In addition to the sanction, the contest board wired felicitations to the injured driver and his mechanic, through the auto club.

Not only are those identified with the automobile industry taking a great interest in the Dingley-Swanston benefit, but motorists in general are taking hold of the affair in a manner which promises success.

MAXWELL MODELS SOON TO ARRIVE.

There is to be real action at the Lord Motor Car Company's plant when the forty-two new Maxwell models, which are now on the way, reach this city.

The first five 1915 Maxwells to arrive were passed out to dealers by the local distributors, but the Lord company is promising deliveries on the new machines within two or three weeks.

The Little Car

TRUMBULL

The Trumbull is a highly developed automobile, differing from high-priced machines only in size, weight and running cost. It seats two comfortably side by side with a luggage carrier behind for 200 pounds.

The Trumbull is sound in design, and is made in accordance with the best shop practice. It is wonderful value at the price.

JUNIOR MACHINE STANDS THE GAFF.

Among the small cars making a big for popularity this season the 1915 Trumbull is in the running.

This car is practically a newswoman in the local motoring ranks, but within a comparatively short time the Trumbull has forged to the front and is now well known among the followers of the small-automobile game.

Like the other small machines put out this season at a very low price, the Trumbull is able to cover the most difficult courses, and practically every road in Southern California has been covered by this light machine since its arrival in this city.

DOVE HUNTERS AT SANTA MONICA.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.)
SANTA MONICA, Sept. 1.—Dove season was ushered in this morning with a fair temperature, a light fog and a fair run of birds. Many hunters are tonight smacking their lips over dove stew, and many other nimble birds are out at nightfall to get the birds as they fly around before roosting in the trees. Many of the dressed birds are to be found in the small canyons and foothills, and for the next few days the game is expected to be pretty good.

HUNTERS BRING MANY TROPHIES.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.)
SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 1.—Jack Farma of this city, Jack Tester of Los Angeles and Edward Newby of Ventura have just returned from a long hunting trip to the northern part of the State, bringing with them the hides of ten bucks, six bears and one panther. They say the forests of Mendocino, Humboldt and Trinity counties are filled with these game, and they limited their deer hunting to shooting only bucks with at least three-pronged antlers. Bears were easily killed by tramping them with dogs. They went by automobile to Willow Springs, seventy miles north of Eureka, and packed from there. Their guides were Jim Patterson and Charley Card, two of the best-known Indian guides in that district.

There are more than forty good courses located in cities of the Pacific Northwest. Seattle leads with six clubs, Portland and Vancouver have three each.

MOTOR CARS FOR ENGLAND.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 1.—The Autocar Company at Ardmore, Pa., was learned from several sources today, already had shipped a number of heavily armored motor cars of a special design, presumably for the British army. There has been no formal denial of the rumors that the company had been given a large order for these cars and was investigating the status of such articles under the neutrality law.

Workmen at the Autocar plant say that fifteen or sixteen armored trucks were shipped last week to an address in Canada. Besides having a specially designed transmission, the cars carry an underslung gasoline tank with a capacity of 100 gallons. Under ordinary conditions this would give the machine the radius of nearly 1000 miles before refueling would be necessary.

MOTOR-CAR GENTS FOOT TRAILS NOW.

ECONOMY RECORD MADE BY CAR ON TOUR AROUND THE KITE TRACK.

Just three carloads of Car-Nation machines have been sold by Brown & Ruggles, the Southern California distributors, since the local concern took over the line, August 1, and another car is to be unloaded today, with four out of the six cars already contracted for.

Since last Friday there has not been a Car-Nation at the local agency, and the dealers have been patronizing the street cars or wearing out shoes leather the past few days.

On a 250-mile run around the Kite track last week, a Car-Nation demonstrator averaged thirty-three miles to the gallon, and as a result the Pasadena and Santa Barbara territories were closed up. A. R. Gilmora of the Crown City and Allen & Connor of Santa Barbara each signed up for 100 machines for the season.

The Motor Game.

SMALL MACHINE ATTRACTS MUCH ATTENTION LOCALLY.

THE local Metz factory branch has been crowded this week with motorists viewing the new 1915 model, which has just arrived.

The performance of the Metz car under rough traveling conditions in negotiating the desert and mountain trips which its road department has lately been making, has created much interest in the new model. This latest creation of the Metz company is a marvel of simplicity and roadability.

A luggage compartment back of the driver's seat provides ample room for camping or other equipment desired for long trips, and underneath there is a fuel tank compartment for the Prestolite tank.

The Metz is well known for its light weight and well-constructed chassis, which, with a powerful engine, provides an equipment for negotiating all sorts of road, even the steep trails to be encountered in mountain travel.

The cost of the new Metz is its least feature, for its low cost of operation is phenomenal, being a fuel cost of less than $5 for a thousand miles of travel.

San Francisco light harness driving clubs may consolidate.

WITH THE MUFFLER OPEN

BY AL. G. WADDELL.

Word from Jake.

A scree from Chicago has it that Jake Griffin is still holding down a seat on the sprinkling cart. Jake says that the "big troupe"—Barney Oldfield and Lincoln Beachey—will be on its way in the direction of the setting sun in a few weeks. Barney and the looper are to start West October 1, arriving here by the first of November. That Griffin person affirms that the best part of the East is that glimpsed from the observation end of a west-bound rattler.

Griffin must have thought he was still working for Great-Robbins. His episode was spattered all over with chatter about the new Hupmobile. He did mention, however, that he was pleased to note that the "ginks" were doing their share toward supporting Eddie Maier in the style to which he had been accustomed, even if his ball club has gone to the cinders.

Bones Buys.

George Adair, the Knight tire admiral, is getting like all the rest of the rubber vendors. He spends more time on the boulevards than in his office. John Weise of the United States rubbery is the worst offender of the lot, but it's a good sign at that. Business is always good when the bosses are out on the job.

Sounds Queer.

George Clines is now hanging out under the sheltering oaks at Del Monte for folding purposes mostly. They say he toured up in the family Chambers, but that sounds like a sporting myth.

Opposition.

T. Beaudet, Don Lee's road-racing specialist, is making plans for a moving-picture feature which will show the Cadillac in the Phoenix road race and the Corona boulevard grill. Frenchy has an idea that he can run opposition to Harry Lord's Maxwell movies.

Haw, Haw, Haw.

Last night I lay me down to sleep upon my squeaky bed, and as I snored a dream so queer went speeding through my head. H. W. Jack Russell of the National "League" had discarded his non-skid eyeglasses and Bob Robinson of the Kisselkar was wearing a red necktie.

A Reader.

"Yankee" Jack Forsythe was about the busiest man on Spring street yesterday afternoon. He was running votes for one of those Rowanburg candidates and every vote promised brought a box of smokes to the promoter.

LIMIT LANDED IN A HURRY.

believer that Williams at his best could have defeated the challengers, and captures of the cup.

That Bundy has worked hard and patiently since his play on the Virginia courts is very evident. He is in trim. There is no superficial flash on him. Lame, grinding afternoon practices, he put in the East. He spared no efforts to whip himself into shape.

Nat Browne, who sat through the matches, praises Bundy's playing in the shoes.

"McLaughlin, not Bundy, was off his game," said Browne. "Had McLaughlin been in top form, the Davis would have stayed in America. But McLaughlin had too much to carry. The responsibility told on him. Bundy did more than even we know, dreamed possible. He made them made good."

Bundy will invade the East next year as McLaughlin's partner, a doubles. He is not going to retire from the game. Judging from the way his teeth were clenched, he showed the East.

All Bundy would say about the roasting was, "A man hates to be called a dub even if he is one—especially by men who do not know as much as I do about tennis."

He is glad now that it is all over. Still all that roasting must have hurt the man who made the writers back what they said. Down in his heart he must still wish to show them up.

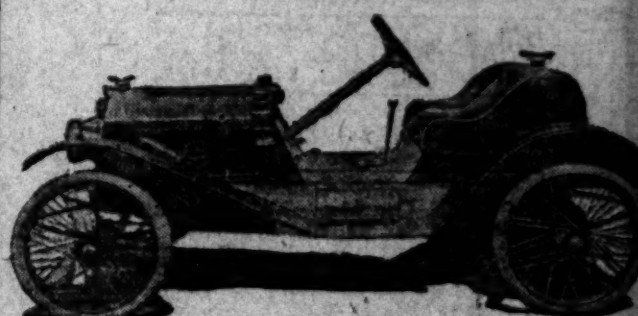

So Tom Bundy, the sensation of the year, will go East again.

ANVIL WINS THE FREE-FOR-ALL.

ETAWAH AND DEL RAY ARE THE OTHER GRAND CIRCUIT
WINNERS.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

STRACUSE (N. Y.) Sept. 1.—Part time marked the efforts of eleven horses participating in three races constituting today's Grand Circuit program at the New York State Fair. Despite the small fields, the racing was keen.

With three starters, the free-for-all trotting event was easily the feature. Anvil won both heats, with Peter Scott, driven by Walter Cor. second, and Dudie Archdale, with Frank G. Jones driving, third.

Geers won a second victory when, with Etawah, he took the Governor's mile trot without an effort. He went to the front right at the start and never was headed in any one of the three heats.

Harry the Gobshut took the last two heats of the 2:05 pace after coming from the rear at the head of the stretch. In the third heat, however, he failed to last the distance. Del Ray, who had led much of the way up the track stretch, winning handily. Del Ray also won the remaining two heats of the race.

Tomorrow's programs included two of the year's greatest classics, the Empire State $10,000 stake for 3:14 trotters, and the Syracuse $5000 stakes for 2:11 pacers. The entire card is worth $15,000.

Guest singled in the third with one down and Middleton successfully beat out a bunt. Each man advanced on an out by Noss, and scored in chorus when Zacher exploded a double in the direction of Carlisle.

Woe of his spectators.

Doc fanned three in the third, but overlooked a couple of others. One of these was Menzies. Menzies opened the inning by busting a triple over Carlisle, and scored when Alexander ran a single up Bill Leard's justly famed leg. Frough fanned. Quinlan bunted to White, and everybody was spared when McCardle failed to pinch Doc's throw to force Alexander at second. In sheer desperation Doc fanned Guest and Middleton.

Things were then calm and collected until the eighth. Noss singled and Zacher died to the hurler Mr. Wilhoit. Hettling hammered a single through McCardle, and Noss took third. He was brought down at the plate, trying to score on Menzies's grounder to Doc. Alexander hit to left, scoring Noss, and easily stretched it into a double when Carlisle and Melan engaged in a few entangling alliances. Frough fanned, which is one of his specialties.

Doc doubled in the eighth, Zacher, who is leading a life of ease, not making much effort to throw him out at second. The next three men kicked off at first, if not sooner.

Frough issued his first pass in the ninth. Barton drew the prize. McCardle singled inside. Two were down. Wildcat Rader, batting for McClain, whiffed.

Oakland.

Summary.

COAST LOSES SIX PLAYERS.

Men Who Have Been Purchased by Majors.

Deals Plainly Show Working Agreements.

Other Losses to Be Inflicted by Draft.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

There will be no further sales of Coast League players to the majors. The open season for selling players has passed, and subsequent losses will be confined to the draft, which opens on September 15.

In the national agreement there is a clause which makes it unlawful and unprofitable to sell players to the majors twenty days prior to the drafting season. The intent of this is to discourage "phony" sales for the purpose of "covering up" players just before the draft.

The Coast League losses to date number six. (This slipped by the censor.)

Five players have been sold, while another, through a horrible accident, reverts to the St. Louis Browns. The victim of this sad mishap is Catcher Alexander of the Oakland.

Alexander fondly imagined that it owned Alexander, who came to that club from St. Louis last season. But there was some sort of an entanglement which resulted in the National Commission awarding this classy backstop to the Browns. When Alexander came to the Coast there was a "working agreement" between the two clubs.

The season's sales give a definite line on the major league affiliations of the Coast League clubs.

Klepper of Venice and Frough of Oakland have been sold to the Chicago White Sox; Bill Rodgers of Portland to Cleveland; Elmhke of Los Angeles to Washington, and Young of Sacramento to Detroit.

On top of these manifold misfortunes, the club is suffering from a shortage of players, none of which are necessarily incurable. However, it is getting well along in the season, and the time for recovery is brief.

In short, the club is suffering from a shortage of players, none of which are necessarily incurable. However, it is getting well along in the season, and the time for recovery is brief.

May Transfer Sacramento.

The Coast League has practically decided to transfer the remaining Sacramento games to Oakland, according to advices from the league.

This is believed to explain the mysterious departure of Henry Berry for San Francisco last Saturday night.

Just as Oakland has done to draw down a misfortune of this magnitude is not entirely clear. With one exception it was thought that city had suffered enough.

It seems that the Wolverines have been drawing just about enough money on their home grounds to pay the gate-keeper. To move the team to Oakland would be pretty hard on him. Still, that cannot be allowed to stand in the way of the transfer.

Furthermore, Wolverton might manage to get the gate-keeper a job in Oakland.

Lack of patronage in Sacramento is primarily responsible for the plan to transfer the club. But at the same time it will enable the league to test the advisability of placing three clubs in the bay district permanently, as suggested in The Times several weeks ago.

"I had not known that the league was going to take any action of this kind," said Hogan last night. "I am unable to say what President Maier's attitude will be, but I know that he will be in favor of anything that will benefit the league as a whole."

"Sacramento is a good ball team with a winner. Wolverton has had some of the best pitching yesterday, and I doubt the advisability of dropping Sacramento from the league permanently."

BROWN GOES TO BROOKLYN.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—Mordell Brown, succeeded as manager of the St. Louis Federalists by Flander Jones, today became a member of the Brooklyn team of the same league.

The Brooklyn club assumed Brown's contract, which, it is said, calls for a salary of $7500 a year for three years.

drafted from each club, which is too many.

Oakland Moving Up.

Oakland yesterday moved into the 400 division. This is the first time the Oakland have been that high in the world since June 11, and that is quite a spell.

Also, Oakland is but four games behind Sacramento, and seems in a fair way to eventually wiggle out of the cellar.

When Tyler Christian took hold of the Oakland he declared that if he could rank them out of last place he would not have lived in vain. It begins to look like his life had not been squandered.

Why ex-Tigers Are Losing.

The poor showing of the ex-Tigers in the past few days has left many of their most influential supporters dippy and dumounded.

It is very true that their work has been slumpy and sloppy, but as some seem to think.

No team can hope to win games without a catching staff, and that is today the lamentable condition of the Tigers. Bliss is out for probably the entire season, while Elliott's hand suffered another serious relapse yesterday. Not only has Elliott caught the bulk of the games this year, but he put a lot of fight into the club, but his hitting has been a tremendous factor.

While Litch and Leard are both in the game, they are there on sheer inertia. Neither is in shape to play. Capt. Bayless has been out for some time now and this slugging outfielder makes just about the difference between a winning and a losing club.

On top of these manifold misfortunes, the club is suffering from a shortage of players, none of which are necessarily incurable. However, it is getting well along in the season, and the time for recovery is brief.

In short, the club is suffering from a shortage of players, none of which are necessarily incurable. However, it is getting well along in the season, and the time for recovery is brief.

While the case of the ex-Tigers is by no means hopeless, it is very serious.

STANDRIDGE BEATS ANGELS.

Paul Musser Victimized by the Seals.

Elmhke, Unhittable, Starts in Too Late.

Dad Meek Gets Homer Over the Fence.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—Pete Standridge added another scalp to his trophy list when he marked the Angels this afternoon, 4 to 2.

It was a toss-up for a couple of innings, with each club tallying as the innings passed, but once that was over, the Seals took a strange hold on young Musser, hit him so hard that Dillon ranked him in the fourth, and then won because Standridge was backed up by marvelous support in the closing stages.

Elmhke Good.

Elmhke, for the Angels, was unhittable, but the damage had been done, and there was no stopping the San Franciscans, who are now neck-and-neck with the southerners for second place, and just three games behind the Beavers.

It was just a case of see-saw for a couple of innings, with no advantage on either side. The Angels were presented with a run at the outset. With Harry Walters down, Meisger lined to center, took second on an out by Magner, and reached third when Charles Juggled a grounder of Abstein's. Then Abstein stole second, and Meisger held back at third, scored as Schmidt threw poorly to second.

Even Up.

San Francisco evened up in the same inning on a single for Fitch, a sacrifice by Charles, a steal for Fitch, and finally a nice drive to center by Harry Downs, who did the lion's share of the hitting for the Seals.

Charles Meek scored a home run in the second, the drive to left taking a bound over the bleacher fence, and for the second time the Angels were to the front.

Howard's men earned another run in the second on Mundorf's single, a steal for the Russian, a sacrifice on Corhan's part, and finally the squeakers about that was operated with Walter Schmidt at the bat.

The score stood two-all until the last of the fourth, in which paragraph the San Francisco contingent forced to the front. Downs doubled to right, driving the ball against the fence boards, and stopped half way home as Mundorf grounded out to third. Howard walked, and a swat through short for a road race. Corhan tallied Downs. Howard and Corhan advanced on a passed ball and Schmidt's bounce out to the pitcher was enough to send Del around the bases.

Grace Kingsley's Sparkles From the Moving Pictures.

FILM FILMS

BY GRACE KINGSLEY.

THE Majestic to go into moving pictures! Mr. Tally is the fortunate man, and he announces he has temporarily secured the house for this purpose, and that it is quite likely to become a permanent arrangement.

The news will be a big surprise to Theater Row.

The house will open next Sunday afternoon, showing H. B. Warner in "The Lost Paradise." The following week Henrietta Croshaw will be featured in "The Unwelcome Mrs. Hatch."

Home-Made Sandstorms.

Extra from Filmland, all the inhabitants of that topey-turvy country being very busy!

Harold McGrath's "The Carpet of Bagdad" is being filmed by Colin Campbell. The Selig company, with Miss Kathryn Williams as star, has returned from doing desert stunts near Oxnard. Fourteen camels were among the props used.

Cynical action characterizes the play. A desert sandstorm, in which the company is literally buried, is one of the features. Here occurs the big rescue scene, with "Ryan," "Fortune" and "Jones" as the principal heroes.

In the reproduction of the streets of Cairo and Bagdad the oriental atmosphere is graphically preserved.

The company includes in its cast Kathryn Williams, Wheeler Oakman, Guy Oliver, Charles Cleary, Eugene Bessner, Frank Clark and Al Green. Rex Beach's "The Nether World" is scheduled for production in the future. In order to properly stage it, Mr. Campbell will take his company to Pasadena, via Washington, D. C., and New Orleans. It is expected to make this production equal "The Spoilers" in the thrilling quality of its story, its acting, and attention to details.

Rowland & Clifford's "The Roarers" is to be staged shortly by Mr. Campbell. It will be in eight reels. One of its principal thrills will be gained by the biggest explosion that ever took place in Filmland.

A Thriller.

Out at the Mutual they are busy staging Thomas Dickson's "The Cattleman." In this the negroes are driven out and their houses burned. This will be one of the most thrilling pieces ever filmed.

Baby Wouldn't Cry.

At the Mutual they are also staging Anita Loo's "Million-Dollar Bride." A year-old baby is one of the principal characters. For three days the baby behaved beautifully, and then she was seized with a touch of artistic temperament. When it was necessary for the infant to cry, it persisted in laughing, and when it wished the baby to laugh, it persisted in having a good cry. Director Dillon, too, Browning, Fay Fincher and the baby's mother worked almost two days trying to get the infant to register the proper emotions at the right time. Battle boxes, toy whistles, dolls and all the amusement props known were used to humor the infant, but to no avail. After two days were lost in humoring the child, it suddenly lost all desire to be contrary and finished in high good humor.

In the endeavor to secure proper atmosphere for "The Great God Fear" Director Donald Crisp and his company are spending two weeks in the Big Bear Valley.

Dick Davis.

"The Day to Yesterday," by Charles L. Buck, is being filmed at the Norbit studio by the Favorite Plays Film Company. Carlisle Blackwell is star and Jack Dillon is director.

"The Man Who Couldn't Lose," by Richard Harding Davis, will be the next piece to be put on, and the company will go down to Tucson to get the "atmosphere" for a part of the play.

War Staff.

W. Roberts, a camera man, from Llanos, has just returned from Mexico. He appeared out at the Norbit studio yesterday, bringing about ten miles of film with him in following the army 200 miles through Mexican territory. The camera man is soon to be given and, after having disposed of the same to the highest bidder, he will return to Mexico for more of the thrilling dope.

A Gish Film.

Dorothy Gish is featured in "Back to the Kitchen," a Majestic comedy produced by Jack O'Brien at the Mutual studio. The peculiar situation developed when a gang of cowboys become an impromptu matrimonial agency in compelling a bogus count to marry an independent cook, and from this the story is developed. Baldy Belmont appears as the count.

FLASHES.

Lloyd Brown, manager of Clune's Auditorium, designed and originated the transformation of "Jes-a-Passion," and thereby got the fishing fever which resulted in a trip to the upper waters of the San Gabriel with W. H. Clune. Further depositions said that.

Al Green says that big African desert sandstorm taken out Oxnard for "The Carpet of Bagdad" was one super Providence and three parts Selig support.

Kathryn Williams, star in "The Carpet of Bagdad," says she elected to sit in a howdah on a camel while she journeyed across the hot sands of Oxnard and Huemene, but the camel thought differently. And when you are sitting in a seaish howdah on top of a deep-sea-going camel, that camel has the advantage, if he only knows it. This camel did.

So, with a great camel sigh, he gal-ty knelt and rolled over on his side. From which she believes that howdah is just an acquired taste with a camel, anyhow.

By the by, she says the most startling adventure she ever had was when, in playing water skis down at San Pedro, she was bound to a spar holding in her arms a ten-month-old baby. Apparently nobody knew the habits of a spar in the water. This one at once turned turtle, the baby fell out of her arms, she herself was stranded with salt water, and had it not been for a good swimmer in the company who saw that all was not as it should have been, and plunged to the rescue, both herself and the baby would have been drowned.

Frank Jennings, who has played all the Indian parts in the Kalem productions, and has just returned from New York, where he took part in the production of "Joseph and His Brothers," is now with the Favorite Plays Film Company, out at the Norbit studio.

He is constantly playing Indian parts for the Kalem people that he says many people think he really is a big red Indian.

"Hobo" Dougherty, Ad Wolf's old trainer, has gone into the photography business. He is now making the knockout for Eddie Dillon, as scheduled, in "Bill Manages a Fight," being produced by the Kalem Company. Dougherty retailed a left jab that nearly put Eddie to sleep. Then Dillon's Irish nose and the two went at it as if there were a prize in the offing. Everybody having a beneficial effect on motion picture history. ## Public Service: City Hall, Courts.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The City Council yesterday authorized the City Attorney to consent to the issuance of an injunction restraining the city officials from issuing liquor permits for Spring street, between Fifth and Sixth streets. Madeline P. Willis also filed a request that the liquor ordinance be amended so as to prohibit more than two liquor permits of any one class in any one block in the liquor zone.

Councilman Langdon today will introduce a resolution providing for the appointment of another assistant police surgeon to examine prisoners brought to Central Station when patrolling are unable to determine whether the prisoners are in need of medical or surgical attention. Chief of Police Sebastian yesterday presented the plan to the Police Commission and it was heartily approved.

Nearly four years ago, as she alleges, she was sent to New Orleans by her husband, a wealthy plumber, the wife saw him and her baby in a courtroom where she appeared to ask for alimony. She says she is destitute. The divorce trial will center around the custody of the child.

At the City Hall.

LIMIT OF TWO IN ANY BLOCK.

PROPOSED CHANGE IN CITY'S LIQUOR ORDINANCE.

It would place ban on granting of permits promiscuously, and hold number down to definite figure for each given locality. Council sustains injunction.

Some new phases on the controversy over "closed" blocks developed at the City Hall yesterday. In the first place, the communication of City Attorney Stephens in regard to the litigation over the attempted reopening of Spring street, between Fifth and Sixth streets, and his request that he be relieved from defending the city in the injunction suit because of his opinion already given that the Board of Education had a right to sign the protest against the opening of the block, was presented to the City Council. It voted to instruct the City Attorney to ask the court to make the injunction permanent.

This is a peculiar situation, in which the legislative body of the city instructs the court to rule against the action of one of the city's own commissions—the Police Commission, which recently ordered the reopening of the Spring-street block. It was said at the City Hall yesterday that this action on the part of the City Council is probably without parallel in municipal history.

It means, of course, that the closing of the Spring-street block will be permanent. A further petition was filed with the Police Commission for the closing of Spring street between First and Second streets. If granted, this will make forty-two "closed" blocks within the city limits.

Councilman Stephens, who filed the petition to the City Council asking that the liquor ordinance be amended so as to make it impossible to locate more than two of the various kinds of liquor establishments defined in the ordinance in any one block.

The petitioner sets forth that property owners are trying to maintain South Spring street as a leading retail street, and that the location of liquor establishments there is a menace to the holding of other kinds of business.

In this petition Miss Willis says: "It seems to me obvious that more than two kinds of liquor establishments in a given locality become a distinct detriment to the locality and it seems to me that the number which I have suggested of each kind is extremely liberal, in view of the nature of the business."

If this petition is seriously considered, it is obvious that there must also be considered in connection therewith the recently much-discussed project of extending the liquor zone boundaries southward to Pico or Washington streets, so as to take in the business district extensions of the past few years. Incidentally, it is probable that if this plan is given serious consideration, there will also be discussed the advisability of cutting off the north end of the northern end of the district, so as to shut out saloons from the quarter that is so largely peopled with Mexicans and other foreigners who have caused the police department considerable trouble in their actions around saloons.

Must Provide Maintenance. The Library Board yesterday filed notice to the City Council that the plans for the branch public library to be erected at Central avenue and East Forty-fifth street, approved by the board on August 26, have been submitted to James Bertram, secretary of the Carnegie Corporation in New York, and that he has notified the board that he will approve the plans as soon as advised that the site has been purchased and that the city has adopted a resolution providing for the fund of $150,000 per year for maintenance of the library. The condemnation proceedings are now in progress for the land, and the Library Board requests the Council to adopt the resolution for maintenance.

Another Surgeon Needed by the Police Department. A call has been made upon the City Council to provide another assistant surgeon for the receiving hospital, to give aid in inspecting prisoners brought in where patrolling are unable to determine whether medical or surgical attendance is required. Chief of Police Sebastian yesterday made an appeal to the Police Commission for this extra surgeon, clearly setting forth the need. The commission endorsed the plan and sent it to the City Council for consideration.

Today Councilman Langdon will present a resolution providing for the extra official, and it is quite probable that the majority of the Council will support the measure.

In his letter to the Police Commission Chief Sebastian says: "I beg to call your attention to the fact that officers in making arrests often find themselves confronted with the problem of determining whether the party arrested is simply drunk or whether their condition is due to some ailment not due to intoxication but one that calls for immediate medical attention needed for the conservation of human life."

"To meet this condition as it should be met it is necessary to have a physician on duty at the desk sergeant's office during the night to examine the persons arrested so as soon as they are brought in and thereby prevent

WEDS; GOES TO FIGHT GERMAN.

Louis Clement Depolly, a carpenter of No. 620 Commercial street, married Miss Julia Caron, a dressmaker, yesterday. There was nothing in the demeanor of the young couple to indicate an abrupt parting. But a crisis had arisen which Justice Summerfield, who performed the ceremony, learned.

Mr. Depolly told the judge he would call today and get the certificate of marriage.

What's your hurry? inquired the court.

"I am off to fight for France," was the reply of the groom.

any one from being locked up through mistaken symptoms.

The Receiving Hospital is not able to detail any one of their physicians for that purpose, owing to the small force employed there, therefore I respectfully recommend that your honorable body recommend that the City Council create a position for another assistant police surgeon, said Mr. Depolly, and he was seated at the desk sergeant's office during the night time.

PERMIT TRANSFERS.

ACTION OF POLICE BOARD.

The Police Commission at yesterday's session granted a transfer of the No. 1 restaurant liquor permit from H. Tatsu to Toyota Takashima for No. 412 North Alameda street.

The saloon permit held by F. J. Lincoln for No. 129 West Second street was transferred to Lincoln & Lincoln, John F. Lincoln, son of the saloon owner, having gone into partnership with his father.

The commission granted a transfer of the saloon permit for No. 100 South Main street from P. F. Gibbons to Gibbons & Feitrop.

A transfer was made of the wholesale liquor permit for No. 225 East Sixth street from Helprin & Berman to Henry Helprin.

The No. 2 restaurant liquor permit for No. 440 New High street was transferred from Lombardo & Rabaglio to Joseph Valpreda.

WANT PAY FOR WORK.

FEES FOR LIQUOR TRANSFERS.

The Police Commission at yesterday's session again gave its approval to the plan of requiring all applicants for transfers of liquor permits, or new applicants to deposit a fee of $25 with the commission to cover the cost of checking petitions, etc.

The commission had previously requested the City Council to pass an ordinance requiring such payments, with the provision that where an application is denied one-half of the deposit be returned to the applicant. The Council, however, made this rule apply simply to new applications. It is probable the change desired will be made so that the commission and police department may be relieved of the present expense of making checks of petitions and street frontages without reimbursement.

CAFE INSPECTION.

CURTAINS MUST COME DOWN.

The hearing of the charges against Louis B. Gyle, holder of a restaurant liquor permit at No. 151 South Spring street, has been postponed again by the Police Commission. It is now set for September 15, but it is dollars to cents that the hearing will never take place and that the charges will be dismissed.

William Francis Ireland, self-appointed "public defender," lately convicted of criminal libel, is the chief person making the charges. He appeared before the commission yesterday, as he has done previously, and made the plea that he has not yet been able to locate his witnesses.

Ireland said that his main objection to the case was that that galleries were curtailed so as to prevent public view.

The commission instructed Chief Sebastian to order Mr. Gyle to remove the curtains and allow a general inspection of restaurants and cafes that have liquor permits to be made, and that all objectionable features of this character be removed or it would be considered improper conduct of business.

CAMP A SUCCESS.

The Playground Commission's summer vacation camp at Seelye Flat, near San Gabriel, has been a decided success. So far between 450 and 500 persons have been accommodated at any of the commission's previous summer camps.

On Monday a party of forty people, representing twelve families, went to the camp for a two weeks' outing. Two other families will join the camp this week.

So successful has been the outcome of this year's summer camp that it will be greatly enlarged in accommodations for next season.

City Hall Revivified.

A petition has been filed asking the City Council to abandon all proceedings for the paving of North Bonnie Street between Santa Cruz and Kent streets.

It is expected that the Third-street tunnel will be open to vehicle traffic next Monday, although it will be several weeks before the entire work is completed and the scaffolding is removed.

An ordinance was adopted by the City Council yesterday changing the name of Channel street in Wilmington to Christal street. There is a Channel street in San Pedro established long before the one in Wilmington. An ordinance was also adopted changing the name of Armour street to Andalusia street, it being a continuation of a street of this name in the new building.

The bond of Oscar Upright for $100,000 as City Tax and License Collector, was approved by the City Council yesterday.

The Public Safety Committee yesterday referred to the City Attorney and Building Superintendent the petition of the Santa Fe Railroad asking that the La Granda Depot and Santa Fe freight shed grounds be exempted from the fire district, so that freight and passenger sheds could be erected for the 1915 traffic.

The Public Safety Committee of the City Council has set 10 o'clock of September 15 as the time for a public hearing on the subject of prohibiting the further erection of marquees over sidewalks.

The Municipal Charities Commission yesterday received the report of the reorganization committee of the Jewish Consumptive Relief Association and approved it. The organization was given official endorsement.

Application was made to the Board of Public Works yesterday by the officials of the Trinity Auditorium for permission to operate a moving picture apparatus in the new building. Property owners on East Ninth street objected to the Police Commission

PROHIBITION VOTE.

TALLY SHEETS MISSING. Carl C. Barry, Mary E. Burke, Ransom S. Barry and Annie Nelson, a majority of the election board in Precinct 360, who were subpoenaed to appear before the Supervisors yesterday afternoon to account for the missing tally sheets of the prohibition vote in that precinct, opened the envelope to find that the tally sheets were declared lost, the election board proceeded to make out two new sheets in order that the returns could be counted.

NO COMMISSION.

ESCAPES IN NOVEL WAY. There's more than one way of losing a commission, as the Birmaham Investment Company learned yesterday by a ruling of Judge Herlihy.

The court gave judgment for Joseph Zemanaky, who was sued by the investment company, which sought to collect $145 commission and damages alleged to be due it on a peculiar deal.

According to the company's complaint, Zemanaky desired to rent the storeroom at No. 757 South Broadway for a jewelry shop. The $400 commission was agreed upon, and Zemanaky was to be paid when he secured another tenant in the same building.

Zemanaky, the company alleged, failed to secure a tenant, and the agent negotiated with the other tenant and found he was willing to waive his rights if paid $250.

Thereupon, according to the complaint, Zemanaky got his father-in-law, one Talmont, to rent the storeroom from another agent, thereby depriving the Birmaham Investment Company of a $45 commission.

COURT PARAGRAPHS.

PROCEEDINGS IN BRIEF. LEFT NO WILL. Mr. Earle Barnhart died August 1 without a will, and in a petition filed yesterday his widow, the next of kin, asks to be appointed administratrix.

Mrs. Barnhart, who resides at No. 116 North Boyle avenue, the abode of the child was told the court by Mr. Newlands.

"I have no money. I am not able to work and I have not seen my baby for more than three years," testified Mrs. Newlands, a slight little woman.

Asked how she has been supporting herself, she said that she cooked for a private family.

When a woman friend located her in New Orleans and wrote her about the tragedies in her husband's family, she said, she came on to this city a month ago and filed a separate maintenance suit.

Mr. Newlands denied that he struck his wife, but he admitted that he had not supported her while she was in New Orleans.

"Are you willing to live with your wife and support her?" asked the court.

"No, I am not, after the way she has behaved," was the reply.

The court ordered Mr. Newlands to pay his wife $100 a month for her support, pending the determination of the suit, and ordered that she be allowed to see the boy twice a week.

The husband is restrained from removing him from the place on North Boyle avenue, where he was placed three years ago.

The principal fight when the suit is heard will be for the custody of the boy. Attorney Dunnigan proposes to make this the issue, as well as a suitable allowance for Mrs. Newlands. Testimony is likely to be sensational.

SHE WILL APPEAR.

DROP KIDNAPING CHARGE. Her appearance will do away with the charge of kidnaping sworn out against her by William Elliott, the father, before Justice Reeve last week.

This charge will be dropped and the Elliotts will proceed on a habeas corpus proceeding.

Mr. Elliott alleges that Mr. Elliott owes a considerable sum for the care of the child. When this is paid and it is also proved that the parents are proper persons to have the custody of the baby, she will deliver him when the court so instructs.

IRRIGATION SUIT.

BIG COMPANIES INVOLVED. Suits were filed yesterday by I. Caldwell, Harry C. Shannon and the Mesal Water and Land Company against the Big Rock Irrigation District, growing out of the bond issue for the construction of canals and works and the acquisition of property in the big irrigation project. It is alleged that the bonds were not legally issued and that the company has no legal obligation upon the defendant corporation.

In the Mesal Water and Land Company's complaint, there is a demand for $25,000, the amount of the bonds of action. Judgment being asked for the bonds in the sum of $25,000, the rest of the money being for $65,000, the amount of the bonds of action. The Mesal Corporation further asks that the water and water rights in the new building be sold by order of the court and the proceeds be applied towards the judgment.
